Hiya, Fellow High Brows! Ain't I the Werewolf's Eyebrows? There is no truth to the rumor that I brow-beat my wife—I haven't got a wife. I beat my widow instead—and she's dead tired of it. Now I'm looking for someone new. Say . . . you'll do nicely! Come up and see me—on page 34 of this issue.

HARPY NEW YEAR

A HARPY (in case you are too young to have studied mythology yet) is not a little harp but a monstrous and malign creature that snaffles onto and snuffles off with the souls of the deceased. So what we mean by wishing you a HARPY NEW YEAR is that the tired old worn out departed one will be replaced for you by a monstrously good New One!

Publisher Warren warned me: "When you write the editorial, don't mention Christmas once." Alright—but how about twice? He said the trouble with referring to Xmas was that some of you beastniks wouldn't be buying your copy of FAMOUS MONSTERS till after Dec. 25th, and that there is nothing as dead as Yuletide cheer after the New Year—unless it's a mummy without his tana leaves or a vampire without his batnik bier.

However—if you read this message any time after Dec. 25: may we be the first magazine in the world to wish you a MARROW CHRISTMAS for 1960? Remember!—you read it first in FAMOUS MONSTERS! Another famous first.

So: here's our Season's Beast Wishes that it'll be Christmas all year thru for you when St. Nicholas answers your letter to Gnome, Alaska, and pleasures you with that most treasured of all gifts—the magazine that's full of the Old Nick! ~

DEAR MONSTER

THIS IS THE Department where you're invited to be outspoken in your opinions. Winners, this issue, of thrill-stills and beast-selling books are ROBERT SEMLER, JOANNA SANOCKI and TONY GREELEY.

HUNGRY FAN

I think FM is great and am devouring every word of it. As you can see from my picture, I'm anxious for more.

JOHN GETROST
Sidney, Ohio

GETROST WILL GET YOU!

THANKS FROM ZACH

On behalf of the Zacherley Fan Club members and the Executive Board, I wish to commend you for your excellent articles concerning Zacherley. We sincerely appreciate your help in making Zach what he is today, and we would like to honor you with the office of Honorary Life Vice-President. Please let us know if you will accept, and again - thank you for your help.

DAVID GRISMAN
Passaic, N.J.

• Sure we accept! Zach is O.K. in our Book - day or night (preferably night!). --Ed.

DADDY'S LITTLE DRACULAS

I was frightened out of my mind this past Halloween when I saw what looked like three miniature monsters roaming the streets of Glassboro, New Jersey. Each one of these tiny terror-tots was wearing a mask that would have scared Chaney himself! I think it is terrible to have little children growing up in an atmosphere of monster and horror, and I made it my business to pay a call on the parents of these unfortunate little boys. Imagine how I felt when I found out their own father is George Frency, the Art Director of FAMOUS MONSTERS! It seems that these youngsters (ages 3, 5, and 7) know everything there is to know about monsters - and they LOVE 'em! Needless to say I left the Frency home with a better understanding and appreciation of monsters. How about letting your readers see a picture of these three young "devils?"

NANCY GOLDING
Glassboro, N.J.

ATMOSPHERE OF HORROR?

• O.K. Nancy. Here are the 3 terrors of Glassboro - with Pappa Frency in the middle. There are 3 MORE offspring in the Frency clan - but they were too busy trying on the latest monster masks when this picture was taken. --Ed.

PREFERS DICK CLARK

I am 16 and a student at the Villa Joseph Marie school in Newtown, Pa. I have a problem with my boyfriend who would rather go to a double-feature horror show at the Drive-In than to dances. And I like to dance! Give me Dick Clark anyday. Who needs Dracula?

CHRISTINE TAUT
Hatboro, Pa.

WON'T CATCH HIM KNAPPING

Most of the horror films don't come here (alas) and if it wasn't for your wonderful magazine I wouldn't know what to look for when they do. FM also helps me to get away from the boredom of school and human beings. People who are criticizing monster movies were seeing horror films when they were teenagers, I bet; they just tend to forget.

BILL KNAPP
Lancaster, Calif.

CHANEY LETTER

Lon Chaney Sr. is my favorite, but I am sure it is difficult to obtain pictures of him since he dates back quite a while. (Ed. note: Yes, he was born some years before Lon Chaney Jr!) I consider myself a little bit of an authority on Chaney Sr. since I have 41 fotos and a list of 31 of his movies plus a scrapbook devoted entirely to him.

ROBERT SEMLER
Haddonfield, N.J.

• Thank you for sharing your list of Chaney Sr. film titles with us, Bob; it will come in handy when we do another article on The Man of A Thousand Faces. --Ed.

BRAVO FROM BRAZIL

I can tell you that here in Brazil your great magazine is very much loved, and the best example of it so far was the Monster from the Black Lagoon, which came 'way down from the Amazon to our city to buy his copy. (He came by Ghost Train; ticket price--2 pints of blood per hot seat. Of course, you can travel in a cold damp comfortable coffin, but the price is exorbitant: 2 copies of FM, and you know how difficult it is to get one!) As you can see with your own 3 eyes, I am a noble monster (Count Van Fire to you); you can see that from the blue blood which I use in my bawl-point pen.

ALEXANDER YUDENITCH
Sao Paulo, Brazil

PUBLISHER LOSES FACE

Please help me. I work in the building where FM's offices are located. Each morning I see a normal-looking young chap walk into the office - but at the end of the day a horrible, inhuman monster leaves - raving at the top of his lungs. Is it possible that these two are one and the same?

MONSTER PUBLISHER AT 5 P.M.

• Unfortunately what you saw was none other than our Jekyll-Hyde Publisher, James Warren. Try publishing FAMOUS MONSTERS for 8 hours a day - and see for yourself!--Ed.

TRUNK WITH POWER

We thought you'd be interested to hear what happens when you leave a copy of FM in the trunk of a car overnight. The enclosed picture shows the awful consequences. It took us 3 days to kill the beast, and I still wake up screaming.

OTTO PFEIFER
BURNETT TOSKEY
Seattle, Washington

BROTHER, CAN YOU SPARE A BEAST?

• Gee, what an accessory! Where can I buy one?--Ed?

ONE FOR THE MUMMY...

I'd like to see more in your mag like the article Mummy's the Word. I have been a fan of monster movies ever since I can remember, and disagree with a certain high school teacher, Mr. Motin. I think there should be less movies about juvenile delinquency, not monsters. I'm thrilled with FM--please keep the issues coming.

JOANNA SANOCKI
Pawtucket, R.I.

THE VAMPIRE OF MISSOURI

I am know affectionately as The Vampire of Missouri - and if you want to go on publishing FM I strongly suggest that you print my picture in your Letters column. Do I make my point?

STEVE STEINGER
University City, Mo.

A VERY GRAVE PICTURE OF STEVE

• You sure do make your point! I hope you don't make two points - on my throat!--Ed.

GRUBB-STAKE

I just crawled out of my coffin to grab the latest issue of FM, but I think I'll subscribe because I'm getting tired of flying down to the Coroner Noose Stand--besides, it's driving the proprietor batty. And while speaking of bats, how is Dr.acula feeling lately? I have a voodoll in his likeness into which I have stuck 100 puns. I hope FJA has a Blue Cross Plan.

STEVE GRUBB
Denton, N.C.

• No, but he has a Grue Curse Plan that he hopes will protect him from your slangs and deroes of outrageous fortune (to quote that famous Arabian playwright, Shiek Speare.) --Ed.

THE BEAST IS YET TO COME

My ambition is to play in "Beauty and the Beast". Do you think I have a ghost of a chance?

TRINA PETIT
Hollywood, Calif.

QUEENA TRINA

• For our dough, you're America's answer (and what a question!) to Brigitte Bardot--and you know how many beasts that beautiful girl has met in the movies. If the West Ghost Talent Department of Actor-plasm Films doesn't discover you over nite, it certainly lacks sprit! We think you have a haunting face that should go places...like to the top, in Wow-o-Scope.--Ed.

IT DOLL DEPENDS ON YOU

Recently I had the experience of meeting the Editor of FAMOUS MONSTERS in person, and I thought you readers who have never met him would like my impression. Well, I thought he was a doll. Of course, you know what a doll is: a small imitation of the real thing;--and stuffed, at that!

LESTER REYDEL
Bronxcheer, N.Y.

• Lester, I live down by the Black Lagoon--you're welcome to drop in any time.--Ed.

It's the Great-Aunt of Robbie the Robot. Gee, Aunt, what a long nose you have. By Jimmy, it looks like the nozzle of Schnozzle, Dear Auntie! (From THE MYSTERIANS.)

one for the money—

One million dollars will be given away by Jack H. Harris, the producer of THE BLOB (and that's a blob of loot all root) to the first person who can duplicate in real life the reel life feat of the star of his latest horror feature. All you have to do to claim your million clams (whatta clambake!) is to see the movie THE 4D MAN, and do as he does. Surely some clever reader of FAMOUS MONSTERS is capable of winning this prize? Dr. Acula tried; they locked him in a room and he broke out with chicken pox, but they disqualified him for turning chicken. Then Igor (the original Igor-beaver) tried it just the opposite way: he ran around a house till he was all in—but didn't win because he broke his neck doing it. Anyway, we wish you luck in winning the Million Dollars by being the first person to figure out how to walk thru a wall—just don't get wall-eyed trying!

two for the show—

TWO million dollars will be budgeted by William "Macabre" Castle for the horror film to top his HOUSE ON HAUNTED HILL and THE TINGLER. Says Bill: "It will be called MR. & MRS. MONSTER—the first film in Chill-o-Vision."

And talking of two's, the famous Hammer Productions will produce THE TWO FACES OF DR. JEKYLL.

three to make ready—

Alex Gordon has signed J. Forester Eckman to script trailers for him for THE BEE-GIRL, THE SEA-MAN and THE Z-CREATURES. In a small press conference held in the Hollywood Bowl, Gordon explained his reason for picking Eckman: "I consider him the ideal man to write trailers—after all, all his life he's lived in them!"

and four to go—!

"No less than four new monsters will be featured" tells Ib J. Melchior, scripter and director of the picture, "in INVASION OF MARS, the trail-blazing scientifilm that introduces the amazing new patented film process called Cinemagic. Wait'll you see the

That icy TINGLER up-&-down her spine is what Judith Evelyn gets as she observes the victim of the original Blood Bath.

Space Amoeba, the giant batrat and our two other Martian monsters. By comparison they make all previous 'things' look like an ant beside an eleph-ant!" You'll find fotos of these fearsome beasts in the next issue of FM.

horror your nerves—

Do you have a pair of smoked glasses? (Anyway, they're better than smoking cigarets.) If so, better put 'em on before running your tender eyes over the following horrifying tabulation of terror titles.

THE HORROR MAN—this will be a Paramount release of Edgar Allan Poe's "Tell-Tale Heart."

HORROR OF THE UNDEAD . . . a real live one!

CIRCUS OF HORRORS—a spooky special from American-International. Half a million dollar production in CinemaScope and color.

HORRORS OF SPIDER ISLAND — a U.S.-German co-production to be shot in Yugoslavia!

it must have been moon glue

Half the producers in Celluloid City seem to have got stuck on making "moon pitchers."

Robert Lippert, whose ROCKETSHIP XM is still to be seen on TV, plans FIRST MAN TO THE MOON.

Fred Gebhardt will follow release of his 12 TO THE MOON with an adventure INSIDE THE MOON.

Crosby & Hope are contemplating making like lunar-tics on THE ROAD TO THE MOON.

HOW TO SEND A MAN TO THE MOON, Russian documentary, is being integrated Vincent Price has a lot of pull with his skeletal pal. It takes a Strong Man to handle two thousand pounds of bones. Sure: one skeleTON!

Haunts Upon A Time Carol Ohmart had a Nightmare —and This Is It!

into America's two one-hour tele-shows, THE RACE FOR SPACE.

Famous comedian Charles Chaplin is talking of coming out of retirement to take A JOURNEY TO THE MOON. Buster Keaton's Mexican comedy about a mythical trip to the moon, A MODERN BLUEBEARD, may be dubbed or subtitled for USA distribution. Continuing in the comic vein, Kirk Douglas & Sophia Loren will swap jokes as they coast ONCE AROUND THE MOON.

a baker's dozen

13 thrillers, hot off the griddle, due to appear on marquees around the country between now and the middle of the year are —

1. THE MYSTERIOUS HOUSE OF USHER (collaboration between Edgar Allen Poe and Richard "Incredible Shrinking Man" Matheson) . . .
2. TAKE ME TO YOUR LEADER (based on Richard Wilson's Ballantine pocketbook, "The Girls from Planet 5," a novel which your editor had the pleasure to agent to a Hollywood studio) . . .
3. I AIM FOR THE STARS (the life story of rocketeer Wernher von Braun) . . .
4. JOURNEY TO THE CENTER OF THE EARTH (James Mason & Pat Boone take Jules Verne's famous trip) . . .
5. GULLIVER'S TRAVELS (amazing special effects by ace animator Ray "Sinbad" Harryhausen) . . .
6. ZEX!
7. MYSTERIOUS SATELLITE (another Japanese "Mysterians" type spectacle) . . .

10. THE HIDEOUS SUN DEMON . . .
11. THE LIVING DEAD . . .
12. GORG0 . . . and —
13. THE DESTRUCTION OF THE WORLD!

after world's end

Altho Old Mother Earth is scheduled to get a bad case of the shakes in THE DAY THE WORLD SHOOK and there'll be nobody left but THE LAST WOMAN ON EARTH, movie producers are nevertheless planning to make such pictures as:

THE UNSEEN . . . the Kenner-Coughlin collaboration, INVISIBLE MONSTER (DR. DOOM) . . . Alfred Bester's futuristic detective novel, THE DEMOLISHED MAN (purchased by John Payne) . . . DIARY OF A MUMMY . . . RATTLESNAKE (sci-fi horror) . . . THE PHANTOM OF THE OPERA (third version) . . . KRA! . . . TIME ZONE . . . DIMENSION FOUR . . . PROJECT NINE . . . PROJECT X . . . THE MULTIPLE MAN . . . THE MASK OF MELOG . . . THE BEAST FROM WORLD'S END . . . MONSTER IN MY BLOOD (Stu Byrne) . . . WOLVES OF DARKNESS (Jack Williamson) . . . PYGMY ISLAND (Edmond Hamilton) . . . THE BOY WHO SAVED THE

dept. of missing pictures

In case you wonder what became of AF-FAIRS OF A VAMPIRE, it was released as CURSE OF THE UNDEAD. HAUNTED HOTROD became THE GHOST OF DRAGSTRIP HOLLOW. THE INSECT WOMAN changed into THE WASP WOMAN. The Larry Maddock-Weaver Wright screen treatment, IT CAME TO KILL, is now known as THE FIEND FROM THE FUTURE. Thad Swift's LITTLE MONSTER may emerge as THE WONDERFUL WORLD OF RODNEY BREWSTER. The Italian HARD TIMES FOR VAMPIRES has become A HARD TIME FOR DRACULA. And THE CREATURE FROM THE CAVE began life as THE BEAST FROM HAUNTED CAVE.

The She Monsters of America, Unlimited, will be relieved to read that their Hero has not yet left for Scandinavia, Holland, Rome and points Europeward, but instead flew back from New York and was in Hollywood one feverish week while projecting some super-secret Animascope footage for Ray "It Came From Outer Space" Bradbury, contacting Robert (Destination Moon) Heinlein, and checking on optionable material by Philip "When Worlds Collide" Wylie, Kris Neville, Isaac Asimov, Fritz (Conjure Wife) Leiber, Fredric Brown and other Big Name Authors. Young Varno has promised FAMOUS MONSTERS an Exclusive Scoop on his activities as soon as the Top Secret tape (veddy red hot) can be removed from the wraps on the exciting package he's masterminding.

stop press!!

Last two last minute announcements:

The novel "18 Visits to Mars" by W. A. Rember has been turned into a screenplay.

And dickering is in progress for the purchase of Arthur C. Clarke's "The Deep Range," a Moby Dickens of a book about the perils of hunting leviathans in the oceans of the future.

... And watch for March and the March of Monsters in the next issue of FAMOUS MONSTERS. ●

Is it a school teacher? No, it's THE SHE-CREATURE—a creation from the monstrous mind of movie-maker 19 Alex Gordon.

YOU AXED

I want to win a bet with my wife. She claims the weird witch woman in HOUSE ON HAUNTED HILL was played by either Sandra Dee or Zsa Zsa Gabor. Will you please settle the score for us by publishing a close-up?—JERRY D'EAU RAMIE, Riverside, New Jersey. (Jerry, we don't know what your bet was with your wife, but she just lost it. You shouldn't have to dry dishes on Friday, Sandra Dee or Sunday. Nor is that even Zsa Zsa's Ma Ma. If you must know, her name is Leona Anderson, altho for a moment there we thought she might be our old friend of many a fright film, Ghoul Sondergaard.)

Among the many Ghost Hosts of Terrovision Films, such as Zacherley (natchery), Vampira, etc., one that sticks out in my memory is The Mad Man of Des Moines, Iowa. I think your readers would appreciate a picture of him.—DON HINSON, K.I.K.K. Radio, Bakersfield, Calif. We agree—hope you get a KIKK out of the pic, too.)

FOR IT!

I am thinking of turning my den into a haven for homeless monsters. (My Mother already thinks it is "a perfect horror.") Could you make any suggestions as to how to decorate it?—BRUCE HENSTELL, Brentwood Calif. (Well, you might pattern it after Tarantula Ghoul's playroom. As you see, one of her friends has gone ape over it.)

I believe Edgar Allen Poe's "Premature Burial" was once filmed under the title of THE CRIME OF DR. KRESGE, or something similar, starring Eric von Stroheim. Could you clear up the title for me, at the same time showing a scene from the picture if it exists? Thanx, chum.—TONY HARRIS, Narberth, Penna. (It was THE CRIME OF DR. CRESPI, and in this rare foto from it we see the late Eric contemplating the baby skeleton of the even later Bela. Von Stroheim's crime was that he didn't eat enough Crespi-Crunchies for breakfast.) ●

KONG FIDENTIALLY YOURS

He was a giant who towered 80 feet to his own kingdom, but, somehow, this terrifying creature is still the beloved and long life friend of the children who see the standard class people called civilization that put him down to die.

Don't let this happen to you. I Was A 98 Ton Weaking because I ate Weakies, Breakfast of Chimps."

Greetings, Gate! What's to be the fate of that throng? Well, we won't have to wait long to find out.

*KING KONG is coming!
A monster!
All-powerful!
Beating down all weapons, smashing all barriers! You won't believe your eyes! Here he comes — listen!*

And, ear glued to the radio, for we had no TV in 1932, your then teenage editor thrilled for the first time to the roar heard 'round the world, the bellow that sounded like all Grand Canyon filled with bull-apes: the thunder cry of KING KONG.

It's almost 30 years later, now; I'm no longer a teenage; and we do have television. Only KING KONG—the mighty, the invincible, the immortal—the he has led thousands of deaths, agelessly lives on.

father of kong

The Mother of Kong was an ever fresh, ever inquisitive woman named Madge—short for Imagination. Kong's Father a youthful adventurer with a great dream—Merian Coldwell Cooper. Of Cooper we were told at the time by John Peere Miles:

"This young man has seen life. He has witnessed the violent deaths of men in battle; heard the wailings of child-birth in the Sumatran jungles and seen the death struggles of primitive beasts still linked to primordial existence.

"Two and a half years ago he decided to create the ultimate in adventure, to give the motion picture public the most daringly imaginative film it had ever seen."

Time has evidenced the triumph of Cooper, as his monumental production continues to thrill millions today.

Bong! Wow! The secret's out—and so is KONG! Head for the hills, men—it looks like the King is angry, and about to crown a crowd of his subjects.

"Now, fellows," says Fay, "let's not do anything hasty. That Big Ape may think I look tasty, but I'm too young to die."

the birth of the beast

"King Kong" was the last fictional work of the noted mystery writer, Edgar Wallace. Later, Cooper's wife, under her maiden name of Deios W. Lovelace, turned the story into a 249 page book, a collectors' item much sought after today by fans of Kong who want to read every word about their Hero. And in the words of Cooper himself:

"We who have seen the last remnants of a prehistoric age slithering in the slime of tepid, tropical mud flats, have often wondered what would happen if some thunderous reversal of nature made possible the rebirth of ancient animals. There are many beasts still alive—especially those of the lizard family—that closely resemble the prehistoric monsters. What would happen, now, if dinosauria came back to life and giant apes again beat their massive breasts in a drumming defiance of mankind?

"You may say, 'What took millions of years to destroy would take another million or so to bring back.' Granted! But isn't it an intriguing idea? So the improbability factor, instead of alarming us, encourages a further exploration of the subject."

just imagine

"Suppose there existed a tropical island—unvisited by man and unchanged by time—that still harbored one of those monstrous animals which roamed the earth before the existence of man? An ape came to mind. Dinosaurs and pterodactyls of the Jurassic Age were alright as menacing influences on our imaginary Skull Island, but they were clumsy and inhuman whereas apes are similar to man."

So a gorilla, 8 times normal height, grew in the mind of Cooper and his associate, Ernest B. Schoedsack. Before they were through, 30 bears sacrificed their skins so that audiences could be scared out of theirs, and 6 men got the weirdest jobs of their careers: bunching together inside the 36 ft. chest of Kong to operate the 85 motors that animated his 6½' wide face with its 10" teeth and foot-long ears!

"Teska vida b'gvoyah! Um-galah rahkon-roll" declares Noble Johnson, savage native chieftan, which, translated, means: "I have the chief tan around here. Me witch doctor—which doctor you?"

Oh Fay Can You See by the Dawn's Early Light if that Pterodactyl has flown his Last Flight?

throngs of kongs

Actually, just as there are lots of Lassies, there were many Kongs—in all, no less than 27 various models and sizes of the King!

Most of the small King Kongs were animated by the Ray Harryhausen of his day, a special effects expert named Willis O'Brien. "It was a good day's work," said O'Brien, "when I wound up with 25 feet of action on

"Kongy, don't get so excited," says Fay. "I'll sting along with you."

Alas, poor Kong, he really put his foot in it. Gentleman covering the usually cowering Fay Wray with our pal's paw-print is Merian C. Cooper, the Mighty Man who co-authored, co-directed and co-produced the colossal KING KONG.

"Man, have I got it made! Sitting on Top of the World . . . the Empire-Roar of all I survey . . . and they even deliver me people by Air Mail!"

How loggy can 8 guys get? A Triceratops in back of them, in front a friendly pet!

film, because Kong and the other models had to be separately photographed every time their position was changed a sixteenth of an inch. And we worked 10 hours a day."

The fight between Kong and the Terror-Dactyl took 7 weeks to transfer to film! Several of the sequences in the picture established new records for their time in the trick photography dept., as many as 7 different processes being employed simultaneously.

The full-size Kong was used when Fay Wray was held 50' in the air overlooking RKO Studios, in a scene that took 23 hours to film and lasted perhaps 23 seconds on the screen. This was when Kong gripped her in his huge hairy paw and examined her somewhat as one does a daisy when pulling off petals, altho fortunately he left her arms, legs and head intact.

records smashed

KING KONG was the only picture big enough to play the World's Two Greatest Theaters—the Radio City Music Hall and Roxy in New York—at the same time! 10,000 seats were jammed for 10 shows daily!

Critics raved.

Leighton Early enthused: "KING KONG is the most spectacular motion picture, from a photographic standpoint, ever ground out of a movie camera."

"Breath-taking, fascinating!" cried the editors of Screen Play. "Words are inadequate to express the thrills and unusual entertainment values of this absorbing product of directorial and imaginative genius."

31 The public really fell for KONG in a big way. This is one of the thousands of drawings that were made before the actual models were constructed.

KING KONG gives 'em the old Indian sign. "HOW!" he says. "Not so good," they answer.

"The ultimate in mystery-manufacturing."
—Relman Morin.

"A triumph of the bizarre."—Harrison Carroll.

And Lloyd Arthur Ashbuck, in a feat fantastic for a pressman, accurately prophesied: "So great is its impact that I venture to predict it will not be forgotten even in 1960—destined to become a living legend, part and parcel of American filmlore like the frightening Frankenstein monster, and the terrifying human vampire, Dracula."

And a quarter century after his creation, when Kong was taken out of myth-balls and loosed on a new generation of New Yorkers via TV, he blew up a hurricane of excitement. So great was the demand for the King of Creatures that his craggy features were telecast no less than 16 times during a single 7 day period. In that historic week the prehistoric super-ape was seen by more people than had previously seen him on movie screens 'round the world in the preceding 25 years.

kong marches on

So immense was KONG's regional popularity on tele-sets that he (and his son Kiko) have been called back for repeated encores. He and MIGHTY JOE YOUNG now frequently appear together on the same marquee. Fay Wray's screams have become as familiar to today's teeners as Tarzan's jungle yell.

Save this article for 15 years and see if what I predict isn't true: that boys and girls just being born this year, in 1975 will accept trips to the Moon and Mars matter-of-factly but will still get a bong out of KING KONG. And you know somethin', chums? That gray-haired old gentleman there in the audience, applauding with the rest and with a tear in his eye as we watch Kong die—that may very well be me, so don't be shy about coming over to speak to me, and let me know how you liked the 100th issue of FAMOUS MONSTERS! ●

The artist himself was scared after finishing this drawing of KONG holding Fay Wray in esteem.

THE CASE OF THE LONeLY GRAVE RIBBER

Miami's TV Station WCKT creates a Monster called M. T. GRAVES, the man who graves company in his dungeon — yours.

in Iraq, just west of Iran. "Iran away from behind the Iran curtain."

"Snakes alive, my keeper's caught me playing hookey again!" The man in the white suit makes sure that Mr. M. T. Graves is kept under control in Miami, Florida.

M. T. Graves and His Skull Friend, Hedy White. "I love her," confides M.T., "because she's one woman who never opens her mouth."

Would you like a little candle light suffer—or—I mean supper?

born of very extinguished parents

Earlier it had been curtains for his parents, who had made the mistake of defying one of the Arabian Knights and had been exiled to the pepper mines of Siberia, where they sneezed to death before their M.T. headed son was born.

His Mother was the well-known Lona Lee Graves.

His Father, the famous Philip D. Graves. Young M.T., being born parentless, was adopted before his birth by his oldest son, a circumstance which was to have a profound effect upon his later life.

floored in Florida

At the age of 7 days, disguised as a baby, M. T. Graves fled in a jet-propelled baby-carriage over the Carpathian Mountains, across the Dead Sea, around the dark side of the Equator and, finally, over Niagara Falls in a barrel arriving breathless in Florida, where he immediately went into seclusion in a cozy little retreat known as The Dungeon, a kind of hole with wall-to-wall straw located beneath a giant rock near North Bay Village.

the last straw

As a hobby, M. T. Graves began counting straws in his dungeon, and when he reached the last straw, he became a TV announcer.

Now, once a week, he tells little tales of terror.

In an exclusive interview for FM readers he revealed: "My favorite play by Shakespeare (frankly, he always gave me the Willies) is A Comedy of Terrors. Next to that, Romeo & Ghouliet. By the way, did you know that Wild Bill's real name was Shockspere? He changed it on his 100th birthday, because he was afraid people might confuse him with the William Shockspere who was writing for FAMOUS MONSTERS."

real gone florida fan

The Chamber of Commerce pays M. T. Graves hush money to shush his opinion of their state, but he goes right on stating it anyway, on Miami's Channel 7.

"Where else but in Florida," he asks, "is the mildew so dewy?

"The fungus so much fun?

"The air so bomby?

"The seashore so near the ocean?

"The sharks so friendly?

Yes, good ole M.T. is real gone on Florida, and the Founding Fathers just wish he would be gone from it. But not his fans!

raves for graves

We all know that Drac Loves Zach, but it's also a fact that M. T. Graves has his legion of loyal followers, too.

Of course, what they'll do if they ever catch up to him is another question, and I shudder to think of the answer.

In the meantime (and I do mean mean) M. T. Graves goes on playing the Don Juan of the Dungeon.

And that's the low down on the feller in the cellar. ●

M. T. went to a psychiatrist—but the poor old Head Shrinker took one look at his patient and got sick himself.

TERRORS OF THE TIME MACHINE

Fasten your safety belts! here we go for a flying trip EIGHT HUNDRED THOUSAND YEARS into the fantastic future!

The TIME MACHINE Natives Are Wrestlers Tonite.

For some curious reason, George seems to object to becoming meat loaf for a cannibal sandwich.

Pow! And another Morlock gets lockjaw!

What is TIME?

"A weekly magazine?" some bright student answers? Give that goof-off time to cool off by staying after school one hour and writing on the blackboard 100 times "I'm a clock-eyed cookoo-bird!"

Nor is time what you have on your hands when you have a watch on your wrist.

The late, great Ray Cummings, who was at one time an assistant to Thomas Alva Edison himself, once defined Time as "what keeps everything from happening at once!"

The late (greatest) HGWells took time off from writing about The Invisible Man and Dr. Moreau's Island of Lost Souls and The War of the Worlds to tell the terrifying tale of a traveler to the year 802,701, and Herbert George Wells' pal George Pal has put this remarkable adventure on celluloid.

the man who mastered time

Rod Taylor plays George, the young man who leaves London on 31 December 1899 and heads for hundreds of thousands of years ahead. Let Wells the Master tell you in his own exciting words the sensations the Time Traveler feels as he takes off on his danger-fraught trip, the same sensations you are bound to experience when you see the depiction of this scene on the screen.

"I took the starting lever in one hand and the stopping one in the other, pressed the first, and almost immediately the second. I seemed to reel: I felt a nightmare sensation of falling; and, looking round, I saw the laboratory exactly as before.

"I drew a breath, set my teeth, gripped the starting lever with both hands, and went off with a thud."

faster! faster!

"The laboratory got hazy and went dark. My housekeeper came in and walked, apparently without seeing me, towards the garden door. To me she seemed to shoot across the room like a rocket.

"I pressed the lever over to its extreme position. The night came like the turning of a lamp, and in another moment came to tomorrow. The laboratory grew faint and hazy

KNOT so hard, Junior!

"Goldilocks" was better off when she was meeting up with bears. Here she gets carried away by one of the unbearable Morlocks!

then fainter and ever fainter. Tomorrow night came black, then day again, night again, day again, faster and faster still."

shoot-the-chutes

"I had the feeling of a helpless headlong motion, the horrible anticipation of an imminent smash! As I put on pace, night followed day like the flapping of a black wing. The slowest snail that ever crawled dashed by too fast for me."

In the picture, the Time Traveler makes a stop in 1917 and encounters World War I.

When he tries a later date, 1939, he finds an even fiercer world-wide war raging. And in 1966 he finds, unfortunately, the Last War in progress—the Crazy War, the War of Insanity, the horrible hydrogen bomb Atomic War that all but wipes humanity from the face of the earth!

Volcanoes erupt all over the planet and sear the atomic-scarred surface of the world with boiling lava. It's much too hot for George, who takes a BIG hop ahead to escape being roasted alive.

Time Traveler George hiding behind rock, gets a shock as he observes the cannibals (Morlocks) of the Year 802,701 about to can a few more Eloi (humans).

BRAVE Gae Griffith, Secretary of GEORGE PAL, in the Clutches of AKKA-MAN THE MORLOCK (Editor of FAMOUS MONSTERS in the Year 802,701). In the hands of Gae & FJA are copies of ancient FMs, whose covers feature the Nuetzell painting of the Martian from George Pal's production of HG Wells' WAR OF THE WORLDS.

the man who came to dinner

The trouble with the year in which he eventually stops is, that in 802,701 A.D. the natives are overly friendly. They invite him to dinner—only it turns out he's supposed to be the dinner! He's been in plenty of hot water before, but he's not enthusiastic about giving a cannibal indigestion.

The people-eating creatures that George encounters are called Morlocks, and they are ugly brutes like pale grubs with spider-like movements.

Well, the Morlocks are sort of like the rich man's—or the rich monster's—Mole People. With nostrils flaring, teeth protruding, eyes almost blind and an albino-white covering of hair matting their shoulders, arms and legs, they are a sight that only a Mama Morlock could love.

Their hands have only three misshapen fingers, and when they touch Weena, she recoils and screams in horror.

Who is Weena?

She's the heroine, a cute little teenager of this Future Age whose people are called the Eloi.

riddle of the white sphinx

Brooding over all, in this strange world that lies so far ahead, is a huge statue, half animal, half human, resembling the one that stands today in the Egyptian desert. Silent, mysterious, its secret is known only to the subterranean shapes of Things to Come.

The intrepid Time Traveler investigates the secret of this Sphinx at peril to his life.

Like all George Pal science fiction spectacles, this one has an exciting climax, and you will probably want to come back a second time to see the explosion that rocks the screen and the great fire afterwards that fries a number of the flesh-eating Morlocks in their own juices.

As the friendly Eloi say in their language of the Future—Amikoj, nepre vidu LA TEMPO-VETURILON! Which, translated into 1960 talk, means:

Don't miss THE TIME MACHINE—for the time of your life! ●

46 When Gloria Stuart spied a spider on her arm, her eyes popped out of her head just like in a Tom & Gory cartoon. Karloff's playing it cool — no fool he, he's waiting for it to get just a little darker in that Old House . . . and then he'll probably turn into a spider himself.

Marion Marsh feels anything but mellow as her beast fellow, Ralph Bellamy, chokingly asks her how she likes his new buck teeth. (Actually they set him back five bucks.)

1-2-3 . . . and the race is on: the first reader who properly identifies all the pictures and rushes to Professor Urbank's Secret Laboratory, gets his face remodeled free.

Warning: if a sharp character answers the door, don't lose your head, it's just Gil O'Teen, a gay blade who may make cutting remarks but wouldn't harm a hair on the head of a friend of Dr. Urbank's . . . I don't think. But just to be on the safe side, better not lay your head on any wooden pillows with a hollowed neck rest in them, in case you're invited to stay overnite. Friend of ours did and—funny thing—we can't quite figure out what's different about him, but from his shoulders up something seems to be missing. Like his head.

IT'S ALL THIS GUY'S FAULT

ATTENTION NEW MONSTER CLUB MEMBERS AND ALL THOSE WHO EXPECTED TO SEE THEIR NAMES AND CLUB ADS IN THIS ISSUE

Gang, we've got sickening news for you.

We had 8 full pages of club ads and new names scheduled for this issue. It looked beautiful. It contained over 20 photos of new Club members.

Well sir, we sent this beautiful 8-page spread to our printing plant. It was all set to go into this issue (right on this very page). Then it happened.

Elmer Hugg, the printing press supervisor pushed the wrong button.

The 8 pages of names and pictures slid into the wrong press roller and disappeared. Elmer screamed in panic. Everyone in the plant screamed in panic. Women in the office fainted. After 20 minutes of screaming and fainting, Elmer finally pressed the right button—and the 8 pages came sliding out of the huge press — in 3,852,739 pieces.

Elmer Hugg is pictured on the opposite page. The photo was taken right after he saw the 3,852,739 pieces. He is very unhappy.

Editor Ackerman is very unhappy.
Publisher Warren is very unhappy.

And we're sure that over 300 readers of FM are just as unhappy! Mainly the 300 guys and gals who missed out on getting their names and pictures into this issue.

But do not fret, oh loyal readers and Club members. For our next issue of FM will carry a COMPLETE SECTION on all new members and ads that were to have appeared in THIS ISSUE — as well as current names for NEXT issue.

Meanwhile, back at the plant, poor Elmer Hugg will never be the same.

Yours Ghouly,
DR. ACULA

DRAW

a circle around the month of February on your calendar. Here's why—

Sick Shooter Blazing, FAMOUS MONSTERS Goes West!

Ghostown, USA; 13 Dec 1959—In the closing hours of the old year, the greatest surprise announcement of the decade came here today when it was learned that FAMOUS MONSTERS OF FILMLAND is to have a companion!

It will be titled FAVORITE WESTERNS OF Filmland and will go on sale during February—watch for it at yore favorite noose-stand!

Interviewed on the subject, Editor Ackerman drawled out from under a ten gallon hat and said, "Wal, Beast is Beast and West is West, and my publisher and I just decided it was about time for the twain to meet." The meeting promises to be the most entertaining since cowboys and Indians were invented.

As his assistant, your favorite editor has selected the greatest name in Western history the famous pun-slinger

SHANE GRAY!

Says Shane, "Lasso the first issue, pardner, and read the thrillustrated foto-story of the old-timers and new-timers . . . the wildest Western Features that ever bucked a buckaroo . . . the hot-off-the-branding-iron flashes on films to be made like THE COWBOY FROM OUTER SPACE, and special photo stories on the NEW TV WESTERNS.

Wender Colt, the Talking Horse, says: "The horse laff will be on you if you miss the rib-cracking horse-play in the first issue of FAVORITE WESTERNS OF FILMLAND."

Take it from Igor, Dr. Acula, Blacky LaGoon and all the Gang: that tip is straight from the hearse's mouth. If you love FAMOUS MONSTERS—you'll really flip over the New FAVORITE WESTERNS OF FILMLAND!

A THINKING MAN'S MAGAZINE...

Paul Carlin, of Southampton, Penna., was a normal, healthy young man before sending away for the back issues of FAMOUS MONSTERS. However, last month he insisted on ordering back issues 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5 — and within a few hours of their arrival at Paul's home — he turned into the monster pictured above.

Needless to say, Paul is more than satisfied with the change. He had always wanted to transform himself into a monster. The only trouble is—we haven't been able to figure out a way to change him back to normal. The only thing left is for Paul to get out to Hollywood and make a fortune in monster movies. And with the background material learned from the pages of FM's back issues—he is destined for immediate success!

You too can be a monster expert! Five jam-packed back issues of FM are now available for a limited time only. Just fill out the coupon below — and while you're at it — send in the OTHER coupon also for a subscription that will bring you the next 6 issues of FAMOUS MONSTERS. Go, go, go!
